DI.1 Now I am going to ask you some questions about your time spent in various activities in a day. Please tell me what have you done from yesterday.... to till now and for how long?

For Interviewer: We have developed a table to record the various activities respondent performed in the last 24 hour. To make it easy, time (hour) has kept in the top row of the table and activities in column in left side and created a box for each hour. Although time in the table starts from 4 o'clock early in the morning, the question should be asked based on interview time and should ask how she spent her time in last 24 hours. Suppose interview starts from 9 o'clock, question should start as "what were you doing yesterday at this time or at 9 o'clock?" Once respondent tells the name of activity, X should be recorded in the box corresponding to that activity and time. Then again ask "how long did you spend your time on this activity" and again mark X in the box corresponding to that time and join both X by a line. In this way, we need to ask how she spent her time after that until reached to 24 hours. Respondent could perform more than one activities in same time. Please ask how much time she spent in each activity and record as mentioned above. If activity that the respondent mentioned is already listed in table, mark in the corresponding box and if not, write down the activity the respondent said on the blank line in Others category and ask the time. Note: If activity is completed within a hour, please mark X in the box and circle it.

Section DI 2: Women-Time Use in a Month

DI.2 Now I am going to ask you some questions about your time spent in different activities in the past month. Please tell me what have you done from last .... (date) till today and for how many days?

For Interviewer: We have developed a table to record various activities respondent performed in the last month (30 days). To make it easy, days have been kept in the top row in the table and activities in column in left side and created a box for each day. Although the table starts from the first day of the month, the question should be asked based on interview date and should ask about activities she was involved in previous 30 days. Suppose interview date is 10th day of the month, you should ask about the activities she had performed since 10th day of the last month to till today. Once respondent mentions the activities, we need to ask when or which date she had done that activity and should mark X in the corresponding box. Then also ask how many days she was involved in that activity and mark X in the corresponding box and join both X by line. In this way, we need to ask all activities mentioned in the table. Beside, we also need to ask if she had done any other activity in any day of the last month. Respondent could perform more than one activity in same day. Please ask each activity she had done for how many days and record as mentioned above. If the activity mentioned by respondent is already in table, mark on that activity and if not, write down the activities respondent said on blank line (Others section) and ask the duration. Note: If activity is completed within a day, please mark X in box and circle it. Again, either you can ask respondent initiating from today back to one month or initiating from the first day of the month until today. You can ask either way whatever respondent feel easy.
